DARTMOUTH IN LEAD AT WINTER MEET

Dartmouth 9, Middlebury 5, McGill 4

SKI DASH TO-DAY

Dartmouth Won Ski Hike Yesterday

(Special to McGill Daily.)

Hanover, N. H., Feb. 10, 1922.—Keeen competition marked the initial events of the Dartmouth Winter Carnival here today. Representatives of several universities are here for the meet and they all have a good string of skiers and snowshoos on hand for the events. The only events scheduled for today were the long distance events in the skiing and snowshoeing and both of them brought out good fields of competitors.

In the long distance ski race the Dartmouth men had the advantage over the others in being better acquainted with the course but they were veterans at the game and would probably have won in any case. Carlton, of Dartmouth was the first man to cross the finish line, while Bowler, of the same college and another veteran, was the second man. Desbarats, of McGill, was a good third and brought the first points for the Canadians.

Middlebury came to the fore in the long distance snowshoe run when Cole of that college romped in ahead of the rest of the field. He did not have any runaway however, and Anderson, of McGill, got second place after setting a hot pace throughout. Hadlock, Dartmouth, got the third position in this race.

The ending of the two events left Dartmouth with nine points, Middlebury 5, and McGill 4, at the end of the first day's work and there promises to be some hard fights for supremacy in the events tomorrow morning and afternoon. The ski and snowshoe dashes promise to be outstanding events of the day with a large field of competitors entered, among the men to take part in this event will be Foss, Lane, Glen, Whittall, Anderson, and Davis of McGill.

A wire jumping event, two relays and obstacle races and the ski jumping events will complete the program of the final day. The jumping will bring together a string of fine fliers with the Dartmouth jumpers favored to win as they have a team of veterans ready for the competition.

A MERRY CROWD ATTENDS DANCE

Union Informal Popular As Usual

The Informal last evening in the Union was attended by a jolly crowd. While there were enough to create a spirit of "bon vivant," the floor was not at all crowded and everyone had a good time. The floor and music were unparalleled, of course, the McGill Dance Orchestra playing their inimitable music. The decorations were simple, with lights shaded in red and white alternately.

Supper was served in two sittings and was of its usual tasty character. This method of serving has proven its convenience, and is now the regular procedure.

The girls looked charming in their varied frocks, some of which were as radiant as the sun while others were of a more sombre hue. There were numerous black dresses, some of silk and others of Spanish lace. They formed a background for a few rare dresses of flame and jade and henna, and one gorgeous dress of many points of cerise. One of the most attractive dresses on the floor was of silver grey chiffon velvet with pink tinted rosebuds at the waist.

The patronesses were Mlle. Souren and Mrs. Lorne C. Montgomery.

Among those present were:
The Misses Grace Paterson, Irene Scott, Nora Clarke, L. A. Smith, Barnard, I. Calvin, M. McCall, B. H. Davidson, Doris C. Scott, E. D. Campbell, Dorothy Teed, D. Hamilton, Marian Hoy, Bazin, Masse, G. Howard, M. Mit- (Continued on Page 4)

U. OF M. TEAM READY FOR GREAT GAME

Desbien Shows Up Well In Yesterday's Drill.

FLIN IMPROVES

McGill Team Confident Of Avenging 3-2 Defeat In To-Night's Battle

The University of Montreal hockey team yesterday completed its training for tonight's return match with McGill, when a squad of 18 stickhandlers took the ice at noon hour for the final workout of the week.

Captain Desbien, who was mainly responsible for the Laval victory in the last encounter between the two Universities appeared to be at top form. His great speed and clever stickhandling is sure to cause the Red and White six considerable trouble tonight. There are few men in intercollegiate circles who are capable of skating around the opponent's defence in the manner in which the Laval star can and when he gets through, his rivals' net are always in danger. A. Lamarre, who comprises 50 per cent of the well-known Lamarre brothers combination, did not take part in yesterday's workout. He is suffering with a heavy cold and coach Corrigan, decided to take no chances with his star wing, ordering him to rest up before the game.

In spite of the fact that the Frenchmen emerged victorious from the last contest with McGill, the Red and White is a favorite to bring home the bacon tonight. The team will be augmented by the appearance of Flanagan in the line-up and although the latter is, owing to injury to his shoulder, not at top form his presence will be felt and should prove a great advantage to his teammates. Flanagan is easily the best shooter on the team and it is felt that if "Flin" had performed in the Laval game the McGill team would not have been forced to take the short end of the count.

The players after yesterday's layoff are in excellent trim and are prepared to meet the most severe grind. After a performance such as that displayed against the Queens six last Saturday the grit of the McGill men and their ability to "stand the zaff" is certainly beyond question, and the followers of the Red and White have little cause for anxiety in that connection.

The rooters will be out in full force at the Mount Royal Arena tonight and it will be a merry noise making contest between them and the adherents of the U. of M. cause. The stage is all set for one of the most interesting games of the season.

Mrs. Johnson: "How does yo' feel dis mawin', Joe?"

Mr. Johnson: "I feels bad—mighty bad! I wish dat Providence would hab missy on me an' take me."

Mrs. Johnson: "How can you expect Him to ef you won't take de doctor's medicine?"

The way of a man with a maid should lead straight to the arena on Friday night.

Rooters' tickets for the game to-night will be on sale at the Porter's desk, McGill Union from 9 a.m. till 6 p.m. Price 35c.

McGILL MEN LOSE BOUTS AT CORNELL

First Time Wrestling Under American Rules

COHEN WON

Team To Travel To Syracuse This Evening.

(Special to McGill Daily.)

Ithaca, N. Y., Friday, Feb. 10, 1922.—The Cornell matmen met and defeated the team representing McGill University this afternoon. The Canadians had traveled all night in order to get here in time for the meet and they appeared to be suffering somewhat from lack of rest. However, they gave a good exhibition of matwork and did not allow any of the local men to win their bouts easily.

It appears that it was the first occasion on which the McGill wrestlers had worked under the American intercollegiate rules which states that the man who remains on top the greater part of the time shall be awarded the decision. The Canadian rule allows points for good defensive work when on the bottom. The greater amount of the decisions went to the men who had the greater ability to remain on top although some of them were clean cut decisions where better men won by large margins.

MacDonald of McGill lost the decision in his bout after going the full time in a hard grind on the mat which left both of the contestants ready to quit at the end. Matthews also lost his bout in the 125 pound class on the referees decision, the Cornell man showing a marked ability to keep from underneath his opponent.

After Currie had wrestled his opponent to a draw in the 135 pound class, extra time was called for and the judges gave the decision to the American grappler who had the edge in the extra minutes. The showing of the lightweight man on the visitors team proved to be very popular with the crowd and they gave him a good reception at the conclusion of time.

Cohen won his bout for the McGill team in the 145 pound class. The Canadian did not appear to have a great deal of science to help him in the bout but his strength would not allow the opponent to keep him down, while he almost succeeded in pinning his opponent's shoulders to the mat.

EAST AND WEST TO HOLD DANCE

Arrangements Have Been Made. Sale of Tickets To-Day

Every student from the prairie provinces and from the eastern provinces will be interested to learn that all arrangements have been made for the Western Maritime Dance. Last year this event was one of the most successful occasions of the season.

It is the desire of the two clubs to develop a spirit of good fellowship and a better understanding of eastern and western problems. Such an event as shall take place on Wednesday evening Feb. 15, offers a rare treat in the way of a pleasant evening and a splendid opportunity to enjoy the friendship of men from every part of Canada.

In order to give those men who are not members of the clubs, an idea of what the clubs stand for the executives extend a most hearty welcome to all students from East and West.

A splendid programme has been prepared and every one who is not present will miss one of the most enjoyable dances of the season. It has been found necessary to limit the sale of tickets.

This afternoon from 10 o'clock till 5 o'clock tickets will be on sale at the union by Mr. Clarke. Anyone who desires may call Mr. Simpson, Plateau 1814 or Mr. Parker Plateau 4404 for reservations.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS.

The coming intercollegiate contests between the women's teams of Toronto, Queens, and McGill Universities are an indication of the quick strides made by them in athletic activities within the past few years. It is not very long ago since the first intercollegiate basketball contests, which were promoted by the women students of McGill and Queens, were secured only after much difficulty.

The initiative shown by the women students at Queens and McGill was soon followed by the inclusion of a basketball team representing Toronto University and that institution became an ardent supporter of inter-college contests for the teams representing the women's schools.

This year the sporting activities have made a still greater advance and hockey is now included in the games played by the girls' teams. The contests take place at Toronto are receiving as much attention from the sporting public and the press as any of the big athletic meets of the winter months.

It is not expected that the women's sports will ever rival those of the men in interest, and there is no desire for such a state of affairs by those promoting the contests. Yearly meetings between the representative teams will cause an added interest in athletics among the women students, however, and make an otherwise unwelcome course at the university a pleasing pastime.

STUDENTS' AFFAIRS

The students take a very little interest in the business which is being carried on by the men elected to represent them on the Students' Council. They have a vague idea of the work being done but they do not bother to try and find out anything further. It does not matter to them just what is being done by the men in charge of the student activities so long as everything runs smoothly.

There are time, however, when the men who are running the undergraduate affairs feel that a little more interest by the mass of the student body would help. The times when everything is not going exactly as smoothly as could be wished cannot be always controlled by the men in charge, but they are expected to carry on, nevertheless. It would perhaps be better if some of the major questions of interest were put up to the mass of the students for suggestions. It would serve to get a more general idea of the students' opinions and at the same time maintain a keener interest in college affairs.

BOUTS AT CORNELL

Rumple, in the 175 pound division were the only men on the Canadian team to be beaten, both of them having their shoulders pinned to the mat once. McKee, the McGill heavyweight man lost the decision on his bout after putting up a stubborn contest against his clever opponent.

The McGill team was not at all downcast at the results of the day and will travel to Syracuse this evening where they meet the Orange squad of matmen tomorrow evening.

BEER AND HUMOR.

Prohibition has so violently robbed many of their normal sense of humor that minds that once possessed a precious sparkle of wit have become considerably dulled since the passing of the famous nineteenth amendment. On the other hand, those whose dulness was once quite profound now become accomplished—super-artists—masters in the art of "spirited" joke-making. People seem to have become so "daffy" over the absence of beer and the "vital" beverage that the slightest mention of them sends some into fits of ecstatic laughter. The man who makes allusions to beer is heralded as a great humorist and his listeners are regarded as appreciators of good humor.

It is unfortunate that prohibition has brought rumor to such a pass. There is so little good of it at all times that it is to be deplored that that little is so marred by hackneyed superficial allusions.

Not that we have any objection to the "personal liberty" agitators or the occasional use of the once much-abused stimulating liquids. But the situation is now very grave. Nothing seems to be humorous unless a corkscrew or a beer bottle lurks in the background.

Tired orators are taking advantage of this state of affairs and whenever they invoke the beer-joke and a bored audience applauds and shouts and laughs with hysterical glee. On the street, in the class room, on cars, even in the long-faced and black-coated atmosphere of the pulpit, a joke is a joke only when it refers in some way to the "good old days" when convivial vats poured forth happiness and joy into the yearning throats of tired souls.

The whole business is becoming so stereotyped that it is a wonder some people don't scornfully revolt against it. It has undoubtedly been carried just a bit too far. It is about time a reaction set in against it.

We hope that at least here on the campus the beer-joke will go into perpetual hibernation. We have had just about enough. It is time humorists and would-be humorists became sane again.

McGILL-VARSITY ON FRIDAY NEXT

Senior Hockey Is Next Week's Attraction

The hockey game to be played with Toronto Varsity on next Friday evening is creating as much interest as it has in the past years when the Arena was always packed to the doors for the event and many of the applicants refused admission.

Owing to the fact that the McGill team has been considerably strengthened within the past week by the addition of two or three experienced players, they are expected to provide a brand of hockey that will give the men from the Queen city the battle of their lives.

The tickets for the game have been on sale in the Union during the past week and have been disappearing rapidly. For those men who wish to secure places among the reserved or the promenade seats it will be necessary to get the tickets early as there are very few left. The rosters tickets will all be sold at the same time. nbfnvVarecord

CLASS ROOM LYRICS.

Sentiments of Case-free Juniors.

We go to the Library,
But 'tis not to work,
Great loaves are we,
Take note how we shirk,
And run not to great books,
To thesis and specs,
Take lessons from us
Lest ye die nervous wrecks.

You haunt the dear library,
Your brow wrinkles with 't,
My soul! His hair's whitening,
Woof! We don't care a jot."

Such studious creatures,
Who study all day,
Why notice the giddy ones,
Who like a little play.

To the Capitol we go on Monday,
Tuesday sees us at the Imp.,
Wednesday is a secret;
Thursday, it's some poor simp.
Friday night is dance night,
Saturday is tea,
And on Sunday there's the Princess,
Oh, what good girls r we.

We lunch at the Traymore,
We dine at the Ritz,
We breakfast at Pettigrews,
Fill in with tibbits.
You eat where food's free,
At home or the Frat,
Some cheap skates you are,
There's no doubt of that.

No, never will we stop it,
Never till we die,
So if reform your aim is,
You waste your breath, me b'y.

Ye gods! men are conceited;
They think our aim in life,
And our chief aspiration,
To be somebody's wife.
We've had enough of the males,
Of crushes we are ill,
We ain't nobody's darlings,

THE RAZZ

Razz is the official undergraduate nonconformist—re-cancer. If a French man is different, razz him. If he has too much to say, razz him. If he doesn't show any spirit, razz him. If he hasn't any brains razz him. If he has more than he knows what to do with, razz him. If in any particular he is not a regulation college man—whatever that is—razz him.

Without a doubt, the razz is a great bump-reducer. Well-timed and applied with moderation, it has kept many a man's head inside his hat, and taught him to take a full course of lessons from the campus masters before he tooted his horn in public. It has made the mightiest and the lowliest watch their step alike. But it can be overdone.

It is a serious question whether it is either necessary or fair to wreck a man's college career because he lacks the faculty of getting on to the ropes with average speed. Whatever may be the doubt in anybody's mind as to whether he deserves the treatment due to an intelligent man, he certainly deserves the treatment due from intelligent men—which is something worth thinking about. And certainly no man deserves less ridicule and more help than the chap who seems to be the rest of us to be along distance in the rear and whose continued presence in college is a matter for wonderment as to how he does it. That he does it is the chief fact. That he has the ability to keep up in his class work should be enough to commend him at least to the tolerance of the campus character who boasts that he can sail on a clam C without cracking a book and as for the rest of us, we know or should know that it is not our province to render any fellow student's task harder than it is.

Though college days
Have their delights

AT THE THEATRES

PRINCESS.

A bill of exceptional interest has been booked for the Princess Theatre next week, commencing Sunday matinee, composed of novelties and comedy that will stand comparison with the best of meritorious acts, and a general effect that will be found distinctly satisfying. Karly Norman, "The Creole Fashion Plate", delineator of songs and fashions and one of the most popular offerings in vaudeville will headline "the programme." "The Creole Fashion Plate" wanted the stamp of British approval so a short leave of absence from vaudeville on this continent was obtained and an engagement in the principal Music Halls of England arranged. Immediately upon making his debut there was no doubt that he could stay in England indefinitely because of the emphatic hit which he scored, but booking arrangements had been made for this season so he was forced to return to this continent to fulfill them. For this season's vaudeville tour, "The Creole Fashion Plate" has provided himself with a repertoire of socially written songs and possesses a sweet and melodious voice of unusual and peculiar range, which adds piquant fascination to his programme. His costumes are composed of the most gorgeous array of sartorial reactions, while the stage settings are said to be the most elaborate, enhanced by special lighting and scenic effects.

How to keep out of the Traffic Court and what to say to the Traffic Officer when you are caught, will be demonstrated by Harry Langdon in his latest and funniest skit, entitled, "After the Ball". Mr. Langdon has given vaudeville a number of fine farcical skits but none however has equalled his present offering, in which he gives his acting naturalness and enables him to achieve results without straining for points.

The rube of comic papers and of fiction and in most cases of the drama is the poor sod buster of feeble wit and slow thought who is always a victim. Jimmie Barry is playing his sketch, "The Rube" in which he and his wife have been plowing the fields of vaudeville has given the yokel a new shift, and this in addition to the fact that the little piece is cleverly constructed and skillfully written has a great deal to do with its success and has made it remain popular.

Tom Smith is a productive comedian who has adopted a method of his own, and describes himself as "A Gentleman, An Artist and A Scholar". Roller skating as a finished art will be exhibited by the Reynolds. Donegan Co. who are considered as the most sensational skaters on the stage today. Betty Washington, "The Sweetheart of the Violin", and a pupil of Henri Marteau, the famous violinist and Jacques Dalaroze, the originator of Eurythmics, has just returned from an extended tour of the principal cities of England and France, and most recently concluded a long engagement at the Folies Bergere, Paris, will be heard in a programme of classical selections.

Sensational casting will be exhibited by the Four Aces while Valda, a fascinating little danseuse who studied under Mme. Valvina Cavellazian, the greatest teacher of pantomime and premiere dancer of Italy will be seen in "Dance Varieties and Tuncful Melodies" with the assistance of Lynn Burno at the piano.

ORPHEUM.

What do women want? That is a more important question than what anybody else wants so far as the theatre is concerned. Next week's selection at the Orpheum is just what the fair ones want, and the sterner sex will in this case follow them. When Willie Collier appears in a play it is taken for granted that the piece will contain a modicum of splendid drama, suspense, heart appeal, a love story in which the lovers find happiness in the end, but first, last and always the sort of comedy that has won Collier a place by himself on the modern stage. In "The Hottentot," which is to be presented at the Orpheum all next week all of these elements are there.

The story revolves about a horse race on the result of which hangs the happiness of a number of people. There is the girl, the horse and the one she wants to ride it. Then there is the man who loves her and does not intend that any one else shall win her if he doesn't. Then of course there is the hero. Yes, he rides but that isn't the unusual part about him. He is a source of merit as constant as Niagara. For three acts he keeps the audience in convulsions.

"The Hottentot" had a phenomenal run with Collier and in being presented here by the Orpheum Players is offered almost directly after its release for stock, the Orpheum being one of the first in the country to secure it—one more illustration of the policy of this popular playhouse to give its patrons the best that money can secure.

The company are happily cast in the various roles assigned them and the sum total is that Director Blair promises something that will make the audience sit up and take notice. It should be a red letter week indeed. In order to secure your favorite seats it would be well to place your order at once. The Orpheum certainly is coming into its

PEPPYS AT McGill

Friday, Feb. 10th. A great uproar at the Arts Building this day about noon when a good ten score or so of our fellows came together for the monthly assemblage of the Arts Guild and such a clamour of voices and outpouring of useless vesbiage I never did see, though some did speak with great earnestness and purpose, and more especially one, a gentleman with rather sparse redd locks, whom I call to mind to have witnessed before as he boxed at the Union. Finally after a deal of argument all filled out in two parts by the doors at the side very like they were used to do at the Mock Parliament and then amid a great hush of all noise the Lord President did make announcement that none of those who learn the art of huckstering and the peddling of merchandise may seek to take the office of the Lord President, which thing over to my great satisfaction, I home to my lodgings to eat, this business of jabbering being a right weary thing indeed.

third week of this season most auspiciously.

THE ALLEN

"One Arabian Night," starring that dynamic motion picture actress, Pola Negri, is to be the feature at the Allen Theatre for next week.

Miss Negri plays the part of a dancer of the desert in this Associated First National attraction. Her master, a hunchback, is the owner of a caravan of entertainers who travel from town to town, their appearance being hailed with joy in every place.

One day they reach Bagdad, heralded in song and story as the home of romance and intrigue. There the dancer meets the prince, who falls in love with her and woos her with ardor, despite the difference in their stations.

She manages to become an inmate of the harem of the sheik, father of the prince, to be near her lover, but tragedy puts an end to her dreams of bliss with her noble sweetheart.

The production is notable for its harem scenes. Never has a more pretentious set than this been shown in motion pictures. The camera's panorama reveals an immense room, ornamented with stately pillars and other decorations, and priceless tapestries. More than a hundred harem girls are shown, garbed in silks and satins with striking effect.

Zuleika is the favorite of the harem, and in spite of the fact that she is closely guarded by the eunuchs, romance finds its way into the secret portals when she falls in love with Nour-ed-din, the young and handsome silk merchant.

Aided by the other members of the sheik's harem, Zuleika manages to smuggle her lover into the harem, where she dances for him, and where they spend happy hours of love.

Special added attraction include the engagement of Philip Pelz who will personally conduct the Allen Premier Concert Orchestra.

SYRACUSE MATMEN READY FOR MCGILL

Are Weakened In One Weight
By Injuries

Syracuse N. Y., Feb. 10th 22.—The Orange Wrestling team which meets McGill here tomorrow night will be weakened by the loss of their two best choices for the 175 pound class, as Fisher, who was a sure bet for the position, wrenched his shoulder in preparation for the Mautius meet, and will hardly be in condition to wrestle tomorrow. Ansley, who was being coached to take Fisher's place broke two ribs in yesterday's practice and will therefore be out of the game tomorrow. However Wolff will probably be the man chosen, if he can make the weight.

Captain Stranahan, 145 lb. class, also is suffering from a shoulder strain, but expects to be in shape for tomorrow night.

Wrestling at Syracuse is enjoying its first year as a minor sport and is proving very much more popular than has been the case heretofore. Meets have already been held with some of the leading colleges in the United States and the team is thus well versed in that practice.

The International character of tomorrow's meet is exciting considerable enthusiasm about the University, and a capacity attendance is expected.

The Syracuse team will be picked up from the following:

115 lb. class—Ham.
125 lb. class—Barnard vs. Schaeffer.
135 lb. class—Don Barnard vs. Lederfeld.
145 lb. class—Stranahan (Capt.) vs. Rogers.
158 lb. class—Evans vs. Goldsand.
168 lb. class—Allen vs. Gifford.
175 lb. class—Fisher vs. Wolff.
Heavy class—Martineau vs. Milstead.

SCIENCE '23 WON BY CLOSE SCORE

Commerce '22 Defeated By
Score of 10-9

In the first scheduled game of the third round of Interclass baseball, Science '23 just managed to squeeze in the run in the last part of the fifth inning which gave them the victory over Commerce '22 by the close score of 10-9.

Commerce '22 went to bat first and managed to score two runs. Science '23 came back strong in their half of the inning and scored seven runs. From then on the score kept at the same level being tied in the fourth inning. Commerce '22 then went to bat and failed to add any runs, Science '23 however had better luck and managed to add the necessary run to win the game.

Simpson pitched excellent ball for the winners and was ably assisted by his catcher Moran who despite having a bad hand managed to hold his speedy twister.

Stacey and Timmins showed up well in the field while the former brought in a couple of runs in the fourth inning on a long hit which tied the score.

McKinnon was on the mound for the losers, he unfortunately arrived late and had seven runs chalked up against him when he went into the box. He pitched a good brand of ball and worked well with his catcher Wallace.

Burke and Jones gave a good exhibition of fielding, the latter nailing one that was booked for a home run but "Gill" lifted off the rafters.

Frederick, Elderkin, and Wallace produced the fireworks at the bat for Commerce '22 and had Jimmy Simpson working overtime until he at last managed to subdue them.

INTERMEDIATES VS HUNTINGDON TODAY

McGill Must Win To Stay On Top

McGill Intermediate Hockey team plays against the Huntingdon team this afternoon at the Victoria Rink. The last occasion when these two teams met, McGill won by a large score, and indications therefore point to a victory this afternoon. However, little is known of the Huntingdon team, which in all probability with practice has improved considerably, and will no doubt furnish stiff opposition to the Red and White sextette.

The final line-up for McGill was announced last night and will be practically the same as in previous games. Goddard and Davies will be in their usual positions on the defence with McLean as utility defence man. Moran will be in his usual place in goal. The forward line will be composed of Kent, Kelly and McNaughton, with Ross, Fredericks and Stevens as subs.

The McGill team are leading the Intermediate league by a very narrow margin at present, and a win this afternoon is absolutely necessary if they are to stay at the top. However, with the practice they have had during the week, and if they show anything like the form already exhibited this season, a victory is very probable.

JUN. HOCKEY GAME MCGILL VS LOYOLA

Victory For Juniors Means
Tie For Leadership

This afternoon at 2.30 P.M. McGill Junior Hockey team plays Loyola in the Mount Royal Arena. The game will be one worth seeing as Loyola has not yet lost a game and McGill has had only one defeat. With the chance to tie for the leadership of the league before them the Juniors will play their fastest.

The Juniors have combination down to a science. Last night in an exhibition game with Lower Canada College at the Coliseum the combination of the McGill forward line was noteworthy. Most of their 8 goals were the direct result of excellent passing in a three man or two man rush. With Connor, Gammell, and Abbott displaying the same teamplay, Loyola goalie will have lots of excitement this afternoon.

Owing to the good work of the defense Lower Canada did not get many chances at the McGill net, only 3 shots getting past McCall. Fry and Wray played a good game for L. C. C.

As a result of this workout the Juniors will be in their best form to play Loyola this afternoon. Below is yesterday's line-up which for McGill will be the same for today's game.

R.V.C. JUNIORS TIE SOPHS IN HOCKEY

The hockey game between the juniors and Sophs, played on the hollow rink yesterday morning, resulted in a tie—the score being 1-1.

In the first period Miss Evans scored the only goal for the Juniors, and although Miss Elliot played a spectacular game for the Sophomores, and made many runs down the ice, she was unable to score.

In the second and third periods the play was mostly around the Junior goal, and Miss Grant succeeded in scoring the only goal for the Sophs in the second period.

The line up for the game was as follows:

Juniors.
Centre.....A. Roy
Right Wing.....L. Evans
Left Wing.....L. Campbell
Defence.....Z. Slack
Defence.....M. Pick
Goalie.....L. Kerr
Sophomores.

FRESHETTES BEATEN BY R.V.C. SENIORS

The Seniors were the victors in a hockey match against the Freshettes which took place yesterday at 5 p.m. in the Hollow Rink, the score being 4-0.

The first period of the game was fairly slow, but after the first goal was scored for the Seniors by Miss Snyder, the play of both teams became more interesting to watch. This period ended with the score of 2-0 for the Fourth year.

The second period opened with another goal for the Seniors due again to Miss Snyder. The play was faster this period and Miss Hoffman-Smith, the first year "goalie" played a good game in the nets. However, in the third period, fourth year scored again, and the game finished at 4-0 in their favor.

On the Freshies team, Miss Eileen Hutchison played a very good game, but on the whole, the team lacked combination. On the Senior team, Miss Foley and Miss Snyder played outstanding games, the former being conspicuous for her quick rushes up the ice with the puck, and good passing, the latter for her good shooting.

The line up was as follows:—
4th YEAR 1st YEAR.
F. Brown Goal M. Hoffman-Smith
T. Rough Centre E. Longworth
V. Foley Right Wing L. Argue
G. Hibbard Defence O. Pritchard
M. Howell Defence E. Hutchison

'PINKEY' MORRISON OUT WITH SENIORS

Formerly Captain Of British Columbia Champions

"Pinkey" Morrison, the diminutive star of hockey in Western Canada for the past few seasons, will be put with McGill. Efforts were made early in the season to have him try out for a position on the hockey sextette but his academic work prevented him from doing so. Now, when the time to be spent is not as great he feels that he can afford to spend the time in working for the university and will be at practice next week.

Morrison has never played in Eastern Canada but the reports of his ability that have come from the west would indicate that he is a puck chaser of no mean ability. He captained the team that won the championship of British Columbia last season and it was said that the success of his squad was largely due to his efforts.

The addition of the new man to the squad will help the team a great deal if he is able to get into shape in time for the games. A left wing player, he will strengthen the hockey sextette in the place where they are shortest of men and allow the regulars to have more rest in the important contests. With a series of hard workouts in view it is possible that he will be able to compete with the Red and White team in the game here with Toronto on Friday evening next.

ARTS ALL STARS DEFEATED DENTS

Interfaculty Game Ended In
5-2 Score

Arts All Star defeated the Dentistry All Star team by the score of 5-2, in a rather one sided exhibition of hockey on the campus rink last night. Arts were clearly the better team, showing very much better team work, and more aggressive play. Only for a very few minutes during the first half were Dents on the offensive and the second half rarely saw the puck outside of Dental territory.

Play started off very fast. Arts rushing the puck to Dents end and nearly scoring in the first minute of play—Dentistry rallied and gave Amaron in goal for Arts an anxious moment, but Cantley secured, and after a spectacular lone rush batted the puck in on the rebound of his own shot. Dentistry came back strongly, and one minute later Legge and Orr combined in a very pretty play, ending in the latter's scoring.

Play was even for a few minutes after this, with Arts pressing. Harris broke the tie by scoring a pretty one on a pass from Hall. From the face off Cantley secured and put a long shot past Longley which he failed to see. This ended the scoring for the first half.

The second half showed a very mediocre brand of hockey although in spots both teams uncovered real team work and flashy play. Too much tendency to loaf offside however showed the game up.

Moore made the score 4-1 when he took a shot from outside the defence which Longley didn't see, and Cope scored another, five minutes later after eluding the Dents defence.

Dents made a final stand and rushed the puck to Arts end, scoring the final goal after a mix-up in front of the net.

For the winners, Cantley and Craik starred, while Amaron played a steady game in goal. Legge and Orr were the best of the losers.

The teams.
Arts:—Goal, Amaron; Defence, Moore, Craik; Centre, Hall; Wings, Cope, Cantley; Subs, Harris, Hutchison.
Dentistry:—Goal, Longley; Defence, Laishley, Kee; Centre, Charland; Wings, Legge, Orr; Subs, Cost, Grant.

BOXERS READY FOR BOUTS TONIGHT

Foss and McMeens May Stage
A Bout

Half past eight to-night in the Y. M. A. A. Clubhouse on Peel St. the drawing card will be the McGill vs. M. A. A. boxing meet. There will be at least six bouts, and probably more. In the 110 lb. class the M.A.A.A. will run up against a tough proposition in Schleifer, the Arts freshman, who can be relied upon to make a good showing.

Goldapple is McGill's entrant in the 118 lb. class and he will be sure to mix it. This may not be the best way of boxing, but it is the most exciting to watch. Snow and Graham are the Red and White competitors in the featherweight division. Their ability is recognized and there is no doubt about their being able to make the two Peel St. entrants extend themselves to the utmost.

Shackell will mix gloves with Bert Light, and fur is certain to fly in these rounds. Light has the advantage in reach but Shackell packs a strong wallop and will make the fight one well worth watching. Even if Light travels his fastest it is doubtful whether he can win.

There will be no bout in the welterweight class. Some of the M. A. A. men have been hurt in boxing, and they have none left whom they are willing to trust to Brewer, Abinovich will fight Montague in the 158 lb. class. Abinovich is a more polished boxer than his opponent, but Montague is a husky fighter and no one can say definitely, beforehand, who is going to win.

There is also a probability that a bout will be staged between McGill's two heavies, Foss and McMeens, and if this is done, the bout will be worth going to see. At any rate there is an abundance of fine material performing, which no student should miss seeing in action.

My first "Little Tin God," and the man holding the biggest position in student life is Jack Copeland, Jack honoured Cornwall by being born there in 1894 and after a few years spent in roaming around in close proximity to his mother's apron he started in the Cornwall Collegiate Institute. "Kind of a quiet fellow," they called him but he had a way of getting to be head of whatever activity he undertook.

He came to McGill and joined the class of Arts '16 and that body, not realizing his true value, only made him vice-president. Of course a vice-president's job is nothing for a hard working man so Jack left the class and went for a trip to France, hearing of a little scrap over there where a good man would be appreciated. When he returned to Canada in 1917 after having been wounded at Concrete in '16, he decided that Medicine was the course for him. He picked off his B.A. degree in 1918 and went on towards the M.D. goal with the class of '22.

It was strange, but even the medical students recognized his worth and he was elected president of the Freshman year. Then it was only a matter of course for him to keep on moving up. It would take too long to go through the list of his positions but the more important stopping places were at the vice-presidency of the Returned Men's Association, and the Presidency of the Union. Last year, seeing that he would be only at the university for another session, and he had to go through the whole list, he was elected as President of the Council.

It is not necessary to describe Mr. Copland's appearance, he is too well known to everyone. He is the man who is always wandering around wondering where he will get something to pass the time away.

He graduates this spring and will have the best wishes of the students in his after life where we can imagine him picking of the various presidencies and secretaryships as he goes along.

FAKE TICKET USED BY SMOOTH YOUTH

Pretty Scheme Nets Free Entertainment.

A wise youth who was bound to attend the informal dance last night and yet did not have the necessary funds to finance the evening's pleasure, worked out a pretty scheme that was only detected after he was safely in the hall. Through some medium he secured one of the old dance tickets that were used a few years ago and which is only slightly different from those used at the present time.

As the dances are all run by the Students' Council and they are of the same nature, the tickets for each occasion are similar with the single exception that the date of the affairs are stamped on the face of them. Whoever passed the bogus ticket was charged to stamp the proper date on it, in doing so, made the only mistake.

The Secretary of the Students' Council had not been as careful as the social ticket faker and had placed tomorrow's date on all of the pasted boards for last evening's dance. When the tickets were checked one was found with the proper date and, on closer examination, was found to be different in other respects.

It was one case in which accuracy almost proved a man's undoing. The porters are sorry that they did not detect it in time to give the bearer of it an unpleasant evening.

PROF. HUDSON AT MESSIAH CHURCH

To Speak On February 12th.

No student interested in International Affairs can afford to miss the address which Professor Manley O. Hudson will deliver at the Church of the Messiah, next Sunday, February 12th at 4.30 P. M. Dr. Hudson who is one of the best known American experts on Foreign Affairs has selected the following title for his address: "Do we need a new Association of Nations?"

After obtaining his Doctor's degree in law, Dr. Hudson became a member of the Faculty of the Harvard Law School and was appointed Secretary of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws. When the United States entered the war he was given a special appointment in the State Department at Washington but he was seconded soon afterwards to the Commission appointed by the U. S. Government to study the eventual possible terms of Peace. After the Armistice he proceeded to Paris in the American Commission to negotiate Peace, being specially attached to its international law division. Dr. Hudson specialized in the Transit and Labour Parts of the Treaty, but he was also intimately connected with the Committee which drew up the Covenant of the League of Nations.

Dr. Hudson's outstanding ability marked him as one of the most capable experts of the Conference and when Sir Eric Drummond was appointed Secretary General of the League of Nations, he immediately offered Dr. Hudson a post in the Legal Section of the Secretariat. In that capacity Dr. Hudson acted as Chief Legal Adviser to the Washington and Geneva Labour Conferences. In the autumn of 1920 Dr. Hudson decided to rejoin his post at the Harvard Law School, but last summer, during the absence of the Director, he acted as head of the Legal Section of the Secretariat at Geneva.

Dr. Hudson is a forceful and experienced speaker. In view of his thorough acquaintance with all aspects of his subject, his lecture on Sunday is certain to be very interesting, and it is hoped that many students will avail themselves of this unique chance of adding to their knowledge of World's Politics.

GETTING A GOOD START.

Agas ago someone said that to be well begun was to be half done. In other words he meant to convey the thought that a good start was the most important step in the accomplishment of a task.

It is never too late to start right, at least it is never too late to try, but the most opportune time for making an all around good start is at the beginning of the year. Then the atmosphere is the most conducive to such a resolution and the fact that everyone has a new page to begin on is an added incentive.

No one questions the value of a good beginning. As the frail plant stands a much better chance of surviving after gaining a good foothold so the person who gets a firm, early grasp on his objective stands the much better chance of succeeding. A careless early training often spoils the child nature, a reckless planting results in a scraggy plant, and a weak outset in school never produces the fullest returns. Why do people always try to make a good impression socially and in business if it is not that they recognize the value of a good beginning?

So while the year is young and bulging with possibilities, do not lose the opportunity to get a good start and thereby insure success, for we get out of life only what we put into it.

RIGHT AGAIN

Prof—"Have you read my latest book on 'The Theory of Loving.'
Stude—"No, I care only for the applied sciences."

TALKING OF MISSES.

"Have you a little fairy in your home?" inquired the scap salesman.
"No, but I have a little miss in my engine," replied the autoist.

THE MATERIALIST.

He put his arms around her waist, and on her lips he placed a kiss.
"I've drunk from many a stein," said he, "But never from a mug like this."

DRY BALLADS.

I cannot sing the old songs,
I do not care for them;
They don't sound as they used to
At 1 or 2 a. m.

VIOLENT.

Flubb—It took two doctors to prescribe for Dobson.
Dubb—Yes he insisted upon an imported brand.

A total of 16,857 degrees had been granted by the University of Wisconsin up to last June.

Farmer (angrily)—Here! What are you doing in my apple tree?"
Sharp-Witted Small Boy (courtous-ly)—Excuse me, sir; I must apologize for my seeming intrusion, but, the fact is, I fell out of a passing airplane.

INSIDE OF THE STARS QUESTION IN PHYSICS

The amazing results that recent mathematical calculation has recently achieved in the field of Astro-Physics was made the subject of an interesting address delivered before the Physical Society last evening by Professor Gillson.

The speaker demonstrated that it is possible by means of mathematical analysis to obtain a definite knowledge of the constitution of substances and of the forces at work in the interior of a star. These stars are at incredible distance from us, and are of such vastness, that as compared to the sun as a pea some of them would have a diameter of nine feet. The temperatures under which these stars exist range from one to ten million degrees Centigrade, and their radiant energy varies at the temperature raised to the fourth power. This is, therefore, of very great intensity. It is through this radiant energy that heat is brought from the interior to the surface of the star. This energy exerts a radiation pressure which comes to an equilibrium with the force of gravity of the star. By means of these forces and figures it has been calculated that the brightness of stars varies as the square of its mass. By comparing the brightness of stars it is found that the masses of the stars are between one and three times that of the sun.

On the conclusion of his address Professor Gillson was interrogated by several of his interested hearers, among whom was Dr. Eve who in thanking Professor Gillson for his instructive lecture, expressed his disbelief in some of the theories that had been expressed, and a discussion of some length ensued, before the meeting adjourned after a hearty vote of thanks had been tendered to Professor Gillson.

You'll have a good chance to wear your unbuttoned overshoes at the Varsity game.
